Date of decision: 21/12/1999

ORAL JUDGEMENT

1. The Commissioner of Police, Ahmedabad City, Ahmedabad passed an order of detention on 26-3-1999 in respect of the petitioner in exercise of powers under Section 3(1) of the Gujarat Prevention of Antisocial Activities Act (for short PASA Act).

2. The grounds of detention indicate that the detaining authority took into consideration the offences registered against the detenu under the Bombay Prohibition Act. The authority also took into consideration the statements of two anonymous witnesses and exercised powers under Section 9(2) of the PASA Act of not disclosing the identity of these witnesses. The authority after considering the less drastic alternative remedies available to it came to the conclusion that detention under PASA Act is the only option available is to immediately prevent the petitioner from pursuing his illegal and antisocial activities under the PASA Act.

3. Ms. Dutt, learned advocate for Mr. Mishra, learned advocate for the petitioner has raised only one ground to assault the order of detention. It is submitted that the petitioner came to arrested in connection with another offence on 26-3-1999. On that very day statements of witnesses were recorded. The same were verified by the Detaining Authority on that very day and the order was also passed on 26-3-1999. She submitted that it appears that the entire exercise required to be undertaken for passing an order of detention was undertaken in only one day. She submitted that this is physically not possible and therefore the subjective satisfaction recorded by the Detaining Authority does not appear to be genuine and the petition therefore deserves to be allowed on this ground alone.

4. Mr. H.H. Patel, learned AGP has opposed this petition. He submitted that the quickness on the part of the Detaining Authority may not be taken as non application of mind. At attempt is made by the Detaining Authority by filing an affidavit in reply to explain how the order is passed. But barring a statement to the effect that after taking into consideration the material before it and scrutinising the same the order was passed. There is nothing to indicate as to when the proposal was made by the sponsoring authority, when it was received by the Detaining Authority, when the statements were verified, when other material was verified and when the grounds of detention were prepared is not coming forth in the affidavit in reply.

5. The Detaining Authority has exercised the powers under Section 9(2) of the PASA Act and thereby has claimed privilege of not disclosing the identity of the witnesses. These powers are exercised by recording a subjective satisfaction that the statements made by these witnesses and the fear expressed by them qua the petitioner is found to be correct.

5.1 While exercising the powers under Section 9(2) of the PASA Act, the Detaining Authority has also to keep in mind that exercise of powers under Section 9(2) of the PASA Act would deprive the detenu of his right of making an effective representation. He has therefore to consider as to what is to be given preference. Public interest and then exercise of powers under Section 9(2) of the PASA Act and the right of the detenu in exercise of powers under Section 9(2). Each case has to be judged on its own merits and the Detaining Authority has to strike a balance between the interest of the detenu on one hand and the public interest on the other.

5.2 For arriving at a subjective satisfaction the authority has to consider the truthfulness and genuineness of the fear expressed by the witnesses. The authority has also to take into consideration the material placed before it for exercising the powers both under Section 9(2) as well under Section 3(1) of the PASA Act. This entire exercise would require time. As it is seen in the instant case, the whole exercise was undertaken at one go in a single day, i.e. 26-3-1999.

6. In view of the decision in the case of Kalidas C. Kahar v. State of Gujarat 1993(2) GLR 1659, there was no time lag between the verification of the statements and the orders passed which could have possibilised for the Detaining Authority to undertake this exercise. The affidavit-in-reply also does not explain or clarify as to how this was possible.

7. There is no contemporaneous material to lend support to the statement of witnesses. This ought to have been considered by the Detaining Authority while exercising powers under Section 9(2) of PASA Act. (Chandrakant N. Patel v. State of Gujarat and Others 1994(1) GLR 761). The satisfaction arrived at by the Detaining Authority is therefore not genuine. Non-disclosure of the identity of witnesses has resulted in to infringement of the right of detenu of making an effective representation. The detention therefore would stand vitiated.

8. The petition is therefore deserves to be allowed and same is hereby allowed. Order of detention impugned by this petition is hereby quashed and set aside. The petitioner-detenu Chandansinh Chhotosinh Rajput of Kailasnagar, Saijpur, Ahmedabad be set at liberty forthwith if not required in any other case. Rule is made absolute. No costs.
